The Explanation of the EMBLEME.

Ponderibus genus omne mali, probrisq; gravatus,
Vixq; ferenda ferens, Palma ut Depressa, resurgo.

Ac, velut undarum Fluctûs Ventiq;, furorem
Irati Populi Rupes immota repello.
Clarior è tenebris, cœlestis stella, coruſco.
Victor et æternùm–felici pace triumpho.

Auro Fulgentem rutilo gemmisq; micantem,
At curis Gravidam spernendo calco Coronam.

[illegible]m, at Ferri facilem, quo Spes mea, Christi
Nobis non est tractare molestum.

[illegible]*is fidei, sempérq;–*beatam
Specto, Nobisq; paratam.

[illegible] quod Christi Gratia præbet
[illegible] Gloria merces.

[illegible] ὅδὲν ἠδίκησε τὴν πόλιν, ὅδὲ τὸ Κάππα.

Though clogg'd with weights of miseries
Palm-like Depress'd, I higher rise.

And as th'unmoved Rock out-brave's
The boistrous Windes and rageing Waves:
So triumph I. And shine more bright
In sad Affliction's Darksom night.

That Splendid, but yet toilsom Crown
Regardlessly I trample down.

With joie I take this Crown of thorn,
Though sharp, yet easie to be born.

That heav'nlie Crown, already mine,
I View with eies of Faith divine.

I slight vain things; and do embrace
Glorie, the just reward of Grace.

G.D.

Charles I
W. Marshall sc
Iona co
see 79