

65 Longridge Rd
London SW5

Apr 2nd 1924

My dear George
Many thanks for your p.c. Both children had flu about a week after I had it, & then I got a second dose.
However we are all splendid
now.

As you will see from the address, we have moved.
The children were beginning to get a bit out of hand & we always seemed to be catching me

disease or another. We are awfully comfortable
now in our new rooms.
We have got two double bedrooms, a single bedroom for Tom, & a sitting room.

Tom's bedroom is ordinarily a sitting room, so nurse
can have the children
down there when we don't want them.

It ever so much better than the Hotel, because I

now have something
quiet to read & write.
I suppose you see
a few papers, & know
what a series of
strikes we are having just now. It would appear that the ~~the~~ Trades

Unions regard this as a good moment for getting the best possible terms.

The most serious thing
I think is the development of strikes organized by Communists against the advice of the unions. I hope they will get the

firm handling they deserve.

I went to a most interesting meeting at the B. S. J. A. last night,
on 'The Balkans'. I find that one gets a lot
of most useful information
there, which is good
from an educational
point of view.

Mother stayed a night here ~~the~~

~~My~~ on her way to Auntie's Bains. I am not quite sure whether
she is particularly
pleased with it now
she has got there.

I am going up
to Buttenhead to stay
with the old man our Pastor & hope to see Auntie & her family at the same time.

I imagine you have
now started your truck;

I have seen an article in the Times so far, but that just draft with the administration arrangements & the composition of the party.

A Trafford cousin
has suddenly turned
up. He is normally a cantonnement magistrate in India & home or leave.

He is an odd piece of work & seems to have a passion for getting to know relations. We had him to supper

one night & he took
me to Diplomacy
last Saturday. The revival of Diplomacy is excellent. I never thought anything of Gladys Cooper as an actress, but I must say she seems
to have improved
tremendously lately.

The children are bursting with life - I

Wish you happy.

Good luck to you

to affect brother

Trappad

